Approximately 40 million people in the United States are diagnosed with a sleep disorder. That translates to 1 in 6 of the population living with a sleep disorder.